

Art and Music

Art and music are two important parts of an education that can be studied and explored in an endless variety of ways. Unlike math or science, the learning objectives for art and music cannot be as neatly quantified or defined. The main goal of art and music is to enjoy them and use them to glorify God. We have many great classes on SchoolhouseTeachers.com that can help you do just that!

If you're interested in specific academic goals for art and music, you'll find some general guidelines listed on the following pages. It is often most helpful if you naturally incorporate art and music into other subjects whenever possible (such as studying the art of ancient Egypt or the music of Russia alongside history and social studies).

Whenever possible, take field trips (either physical or virtual) with your children to explore art and music in a living, breathing way. Visit a museum, enjoy a musical performance, watch tradesmen in action, and dig in and try as many styles and techniques as you have time and the opportunity to enjoy!

Keep in mind as you explore art that it can cover a wide variety of techniques and media. It includes drawing and painting, but it also includes animation, architecture, casting, ceramics, computer graphics and applications, construction, dance or other creative movement, digital arts, drama (including mime, storytelling, and technical aspects of theater), drawing, film, graphic design, improvisational music, instrumental music, metal sculpture, mosaics, photography, printmaking, sculpture, textiles and fiber art, and much more.

Another integral part of art and music studies is reading biographies of famous artists and composers. You can find suggested reading lists about architecture, music, art, and art history in our Book Lists for Families. Enjoy!

English Language Arts

Language arts is a broad heading that can incorporate many subjects depending on the approach taken. It varies from one curriculum to another, but often found under language arts are phonics/reading, reading comprehension, handwriting, literature, writing and composition, grammar, listening and speaking skills, and research skills.

One important element of language arts curricula is that the skills learned early in an education (such as capitalization and punctuation rules) are continually used throughout the student's journey. Even if the specific skills are not repeated in this scope and sequence each year, it is understood that the student is to continue to use what he or she has learned previously, reviewing as necessary.

Reading

When possible, have your student read as many varied types of materials as he or she can. For prekindergarten and kindergarten emerging readers, creating a print-rich environment is important. Manipulating letters to sounds and sounds to words are the building blocks for reading. At this level, everything is readable—cereal boxes, signs, traditional text, names, etc.

In first to third grade, types of reading to become familiar with might include fiction, nonfiction, legends, fables, folktales, fairy tales, poetry, calendars, recipes, and hymns. In fourth and fifth grade, this can expand to include classic and contemporary literature, magazine articles, and newspapers. By sixth grade, readers should be exploring novels, short stories, biographies, autobiographies, plays, essays, and the classics.

Additional Reading Resources

The AMO® Program: Nurturing the Heart for God uses Biblical and classic literature to cultivate a Christian worldview, sensibilities, and character.

Ditch the Desk: stand-alone units on Jack and the Beanstalk, the Emperor's New Clothes, and writing your own fairy tale. Growing Readers: activities to supplement Owls in the Family and Pippi Longstocking.

Adventures with Books: suggested reading lists based on a theme and related activities you can do with your family to bring the stories to life.

Ditch the Desk: Test Taking—Week 3 offers tips to make reading comprehension tests less stressful.

Loving Literature through Chapter Books: Each book-length unit study will provide your family with the opportunity to read and explore a different chapter book. Whether you choose to study one or all of the novels included in the course, we know that you will love these books as much as we do.

Reading Remedies provides specific phonics instruction and strategies for struggling readers of any age.

Daily Puzzlers are language-based logic puzzles that vary in difficulty and include puzzles for 2nd through 12th grade. They promote critical thinking, vocabulary, and reading comprehension.

Spelling

Kindergarten–12th Grade: Spelling

Schoolhouse Spelling (iST for K–3): provides a full K–12 spelling curriculum on SchoolhouseTeachers.com.

In addition to the phonics units, Reading Remedies has three units which address spelling: Reading and Spelling Multisyllable Words, Spelling by Word Parts, and Improving Reading and Spelling Skills in Science.

For extra spelling fun, explore the spelling-themed games that are part of the Everyday Games series.

Literature

5th–8th Grade

At this stage, the focus shifts from the student reading and comprehending what he or she has read to reading deeply and evaluating what he or she has read. As always, plenty of time for reading for pleasure should also be allowed. Don't forget Book Lists for Families, which has book suggestions divided by grade level and topic.

As you read through the objectives for each grade level, please keep in mind that many of the skills listed can be applied to almost any piece of literature. Talk to your students about what they are reading. Ask them why they feel a certain way about an answer. How did they reach the conclusion they came to? Turn the objectives into questions and ask them to write their responses. Don't try to turn reading into nothing more than a formulaic analysis. There is a place for that, and it's important for students to learn to think critically about what they are reading. But it is also important to let students get lost in a great story and swept up into a world bigger than the one they know. Make time for both, and you will both enjoy the journey more!

Literature

6th Grade

- Continue to develop critical and appreciative levels of reading comprehension.
- Read and evaluate selected Caldecott and Newbery award winners.
- Learn to compare and contrast characters and their roles.
- Understand denouement.
- Identify the purpose of flashbacks and cliffhangers in stories.
- Recognize symbolism in stories.
- Expand on the knowledge of the classics.
- Evaluate works of literature through discussion, debate, and written critique.
- Be able to take notes from a written work and develop an outline from them.
- Expand on knowledge of poetry and be sure to understand meter, iamb, and free verse.
- Pinpoint evidence in a text that supports the obvious and subtle messages of the text.
- Describe how the plot of a work unfolds.
- Analyze how specific word choices impact a text's meaning and tone.
- Analyze how a text presents information.

6th Grade

On SchoolhouseTeachers.com

Sixth grade is a fun time to become familiar with the Caldecott Medal and the Newbery Award and those who have won them. The Caldecott is awarded to the artist of the “most distinguished American picture book for children” and the Newbery Award is given to the author of the “most distinguished American children's book published the previous year.” There are studies of several of these winners on SchoolhouseTeachers.com which are listed below.

Note: Since the Caldecott Medal is awarded to picture books, these books are below reading level, but the course leads students through a thoughtful analysis of these two classics.

Caldecott Medal winners:

Literature:

The Biggest Bear by Lynd Ward

Sam, Bangs, and Moonshine by Evaline Ness

Newbery Award (winners and honor books):

Literature:

The Door in the Wall by Marguerite de Angeli

Misty of Chincoteague by Marguerite Henry

The Bronze Bow by Elizabeth George Speare

Children's Literature for Life:

Carry On, Mr. Bowditch by Jean Lee Lantham

Strawberry Girl by Lois Lenski

Bronze Bow by Elizabeth George Speare

Additional books that can be studied at this grade level include:

Literature: The Book of Three by Lloyd Alexander

Sixth grade is also an excellent time to introduce a deeper understanding of poetry in a fun, accessible way.

Opening the Door to Poetry is a nine-week introduction to poetry specifically designed for the student who has not read much poetry in the past. It explores how to read and think about poetry, various poetic forms, vocabulary, literary devices, memorization, writing, and more. Exploring Poetry with Notebooking is a four-week exploration of understanding what poems are saying to us and how they make us feel. Each of the twenty poems are followed by notebooking exercises.

Additionally, you may wish to continue to expand on the classics with units from Simply Shakespeare.

Loving Literature through Chapter Books: Each book-length unit study will provide your family with the opportunity to read and explore a different chapter book. Whether you choose to study one or all of the novels included in the course, we know that you will love these books as much as we do.

Writing and Composition

We encourage you to incorporate writing in as many subjects as you can. Students can write recipes, create historic journals, write instructions for how to program a computer, keep a journal, etc. The possibilities are endless and do not need to be confined to a portion of a language arts curriculum.

Please note: The focus of the writing and composition section of this scope and sequence is on creativity and composition, not the physical act of writing. If your child struggles with the physical act of writing, please take a look at Judi Munday's Special Needs Lessons 15 and 16 for alternative ways you can help your child express his or her thoughts.

Writing and Composition

6th Grade

Increasingly, writing and composition assignments are going to become an integrated part of other subjects such as history, social studies, and science. Students should learn how to write informative, explanatory, or persuasive pieces that are supported with clear reasons and relevant evidence.

Students should learn about the use of anaphora, allusion, irony, and understatement in poetry and prose. They should be well acquainted with devices of style such as imagery, hyperbole, theme, irony, pun, point of view, and figurative language.

Students should learn about dishonest tactics used in persuasion, how to recognize them in material they read or hear, and how and why to avoid them in their own writing.

Students should be able to tailor their writing to a chosen audience or purpose—academic, personal, or business.

On SchoolhouseTeachers.com

Here to Help Writing Flight 3, Essay Level: The Write a Book Project is the capstone of the six-part Here to Help Writing series. Students apply what they have learned about paragraphs and essays to complete and publish a book with six chapters. This is a 32-week course for middle school.

Essay Writing 101, 28 weeks for 6th–10th grade, begins with a look at the writing process and then continues with a study of common essay forms including expository, biographical, descriptive, personal experience, eyewitness report, and cause and effect.

- Comic Poem: “Casey at the Bat” by Ernest Thayer
- Description: Country of the Pointed Firs by Sarah Orne Jewett
- Vivid Words and Rhyme: “To Autumn” by John Keats

Grammar

6th Grade

In building on what has been previously learned, sixth graders need to also learn:

- perfect tenses of verbs
- about comparative and superlative adverbs
- about intensive, interrogative, demonstrative, and indefinite pronouns
- how to use various grammar guides
- the meaning of foreign words commonly used in English
- complex and compound-complex sentence structure
- to distinguish between active and passive verbs
- to vary sentence structure and length to make writing more interesting to read
- how to identify misplaced and dangling modifiers

On SchoolhouseTeachers.com

Daily Grammar for Middle School: 6th-7th Grade: 16 weekly worksheets that review and build on grammar skills and practice diagramming (covers many of the topics listed above)

Students can even have fun reading about grammar! Check out the Book Lists for Families unit about Spelling and Grammar.

Listening and Speaking Skills

4th–12th Grade

Once the foundation for good speaking skills is laid, there is no end to where a student may go with it. It is good practice for the student to deliver a portion of his or her work orally, whether it be a book report, a play, or the recitation of poetry using clear diction, making appropriate eye contact, and speaking at an appropriate volume. As students get older, it is important they learn to not only give, but also analyze oral presentations by drawing conclusions, asking questions, and critiquing messages for bias, fallacies, opinion cited as fact, and unsupported generalizations. They should also practice taking coherent notes from an oral presentation.

World Book Online includes multiple research tools for students including dictionaries, a How to Do Research center, and a citation builder.

Foreign Language

Many families introduce foreign language instruction during the elementary years, often through songs, vocabulary games, and cultural exposure. This early introduction builds interest and familiarity. More formal instruction typically begins in middle school, where students begin developing foundational communication skills and an understanding of language structure.

High school graduation requirements for foreign language vary by state. A common benchmark for graduation or college admission is the completion of at least one year of a foreign language. Some states also recognize American Sign Language (ASL) as fulfilling this requirement.

SchoolhouseTeachers.com offers a number of foreign language options, include Spanish and Korean. To ensure visibility and clarity, our English as a Second Language (ESL) courses are also grouped under Foreign Language rather than Language Arts. This helps families locate appropriate instruction based on student needs, whether they are learning a new language or acquiring English as an additional language.

ESL Courses on SchoolhouseTeachers.com:

Health

Every curriculum approaches health a little differently. Some incorporate it with science from the very beginning. Some incorporate it with science and anatomy in higher grades. You may enjoy the Book Lists for Families selections for Healthy Reads! Famous Doctors, Nurses, and Researchers. Below, you will find an outline of some suggested health topics to incorporate each year.

You'll find in-depth information about how to determine your child's fitness goals and guide them on their way to developing and maintaining a healthy lifestyle in our Physical Education Center, where we have material for all ages. We'll also help you set goals such as:

- Engaging in physical activity with competence and confidence
- Experiencing physical activity in a variety of environments
- Understanding the importance and benefits (physical, emotional, social) of a lifestyle that includes physical activity
- Incorporating regular physical activity into your family's lifestyle
- Achieving and maintaining physical fitness

Health

5th–6th Grade

At this point, many curricula begin blending health with science and anatomy. This is also a good time to further explore and become familiar with first aid practices (including how to identify and treat hypothermia, heat stroke, and heat exhaustion) and how to respond to dangerous or emergency situations.

History

The approaches to teaching history are varied, but for the purposes of this scope and sequence, we offer an outline of two main tracks: traditional (following a generally chronological approach to US history and a regional approach to world history) and classical (a series of cycles that follows a chronological approach, with each cycle through the topics going into more depth). Remember that you can never teach every moment of history! Help your children understand the framework of history so they can continue to build on that knowledge for the rest of their lives.

Traditional Track

Kindergarten

Early American History (pre-Columbian period to the Revolutionary War)

3rd Grade

New World Explorers; Native Peoples; 13 US Colonies; Industrial Revolution; Europe (Renaissance to the early 19th century)

6th Grade

Geography

Some curricula treat geography as a subject separate from history in Kindergarten–8th grade, while others incorporate it into historical studies. For example, any time the nation of China is studied is a perfect time to explore the physical characteristics and boundaries of the nation. This makes geography interesting and relevant for the students. However, there is some basic geography that can be studied independently from historical studies. Here are some of the goals included in various curricula.

You may also enjoy Book Lists for Families selections on Africa, Florida, and Travel.

There are further resources in Unit Studies: Geography including Cruisin' the Country, Geography Study with George Frederic Handel, Geography Study with Missionary William Carey, Military Geography, Physical Geography of Africa, and Travel the World.

*One way to use the geography quizzes as part of your curriculum is to use the answer key as the lesson to spark independent research. For example, using the World Commodities Quiz, students can learn that Venezuela exports iron ore, Russia exports natural gas, etc. They can use that as a springboard to learn more about these specific countries and exports, write a paragraph or more on each, and then take the quiz at the end.

Social Studies

Some curricula treat social studies as a subject separate from history, while others incorporate it into historical studies. The ways in which social studies can be combined with history are virtually endless. When you study a period in history, look at as many aspects of daily life as you can. What jobs did people have? What were their families like? What kinds of homes did they live in?

Three key areas emphasized in social studies are cultural awareness, responsible citizenship, and foundational economics.

Here are some specific goals included in various curricula that do not always fall into a course of historical studies.

Social Studies

On SchoolhouseTeachers.com

Ancient Citizens in Ancient Civilizations: 10-week course

The role of Christianity in the shaping of the United States is explored in the video We the People in the History of Christianity class. The class itself and the accompanying worksheets and essay assignments are most appropriate for high school students; however, the videos can be watched as a family, independent from the full class, in order to encourage discussion on this topic.

In World Book Advanced, there is a pathfinder project, an in-depth collection of resources meant to guide students through independent study, that focuses on cities. It looks at several ancient cities and also the common problems cities have faced in the past and face today. It is designed for high school students, but an advanced 6th grader may also find some information of interest.

You may also enjoy Book Lists for Families for Civics, Parts One and Two.

Math

Mathematics is a subject built layer by layer, with each concept forming a brick in a student's foundation of understanding. When even one of these foundational concepts is weak or missing, it can impact the learner's ability to progress confidently to the next level. That's why a sequential approach to math instruction is critical. SchoolhouseTeachers.com offers full-year, grade-level math courses that are designed to follow a logical progression, ensuring that students develop skills in the right order for long-term success.

The Scope and Sequence for Math is a valuable companion to these full courses. It provides a clear, organized list of key math concepts by grade level, helping parents identify what students should typically be learning at each stage. These overviews can serve both as a planning tool and as an informal checklist: to see whether your child is on track, to determine readiness for the next grade level, or to identify concepts that may need reteaching or reinforcement.

Because students don't always learn in a straight line, gaps can develop over time—especially if they've changed curricula, had an uneven learning experience, or struggled with certain topics. The scope and sequence helps bring clarity to these situations. When a student is struggling, parents can refer to the list of grade-level skills to pinpoint exactly where understanding broke down. Then, instead of having to repeat an entire year's course, parents can use ST's short, single-skill math resources to target specific areas for remediation. This flexible, skill-by-skill support complements our sequential courses and empowers parents to tailor instruction to their child's unique needs. (For more information about skills-oriented courses, see our Focused Learning Center for Math.)

In short, the Scope and Sequence for Math is more than just an outline—it's a strategic tool. Whether you're choosing the right course, building a custom learning plan, or evaluating progress, this guide helps you see the big picture while also zeroing in on the details. When in doubt, use it as a roadmap: it can show you where your student has been, where they're going, and whether any detours are needed along the way.
